Corset

This yarn can be made with either a smooth fibre preparation, or with a more textured option in place of the coloured single that runs through the centre. I suggest a lockspun in which the tips are left sticking out to show between the smooth singles it is plyed with.

1. Spin a thick single of any kind (Z direction)
2. Spin a thinner black single in the Z direction
3. Spin another black single of the same thickness as the last one, but this time in the S direction
4. Ply the first single and the Z spun single in the S direction. Very important - over twist these so the yarn plys back on itself when you pull some off the bobbin. Ply as evenly as you can.
5. Ply the two ply you just created with the last (S spun) single, in the Z direction, adjust your treading so your third ply criss crosses with the other fine spun single to create the corset effect.
